

National Council of Social Security Management Associations

Why You Should Join!

The Management Association is a professional organization that strives to further the goals of SSA from a management perspective by having an open dialogue with regional and national leaders. Many current agency leaders are former members of our association. The Management Association serves as a voice for field and TSC management with the primary purpose of improving service to the public. Members can share input on many issues through their regional associations. We have been instrumental in advocating for higher budgets for SSA, increasing the rate of overtime pay for managers and supervisors, influencing policy changes, streamlining procedures within the agency and gaining improvements in automation and other systems enhancements needed for greater efficiency. We have also been instrumental in obtaining upgrades for several field office and TSC positions.

The top 5 reasons you should join:

1. The Management Association is a respected organization that represents your interests in a positive and professional manner. You will be joining an active and vibrant organization of your peers. We provide an unfiltered voice for communications between field offices, TSCs and other SSA components.
2. You can make a difference. You can raise issues and make suggestions for changes that can improve our service to the public and our overall work environment. Our organization gives members the opportunity to express concerns, problems and views through a collective voice.
3. Membership provides networking opportunities for you to meet coworkers across your region and the nation. It provides a forum for sharing information and ideas.
4. You will be kept informed of happenings inside the agency and the organization that you might not otherwise hear about. Our organization serves as a channel of communications both to and from Regional and Central Office.
5. For career advancement, it provides an excellent opportunity for exposure. Attending Management Association meetings offers the chance to meet and interact with regional and national executives.
